2. In the next few sections, we'll ask for a description of how the nominee(s) meet our judging criteria. We're looking for education changemakers whose work is future-oriented, innovative, transformative, and sustainable, and we expect them to have a future plan for their work.*

You should include evidence to back up your description whenever you can. That could be hyperlinks to publications, external evaluation reports, or internal impact assessments. You can also upload these reports in the "Supporting documents" section.

a. How is this person or team's work future-oriented?*

For all our criteria, we've added some bullet points giving examples of what we're looking for, to get you started. But you can—and should—expand beyond these.

We want to understand:

• if their work addresses one or more critical issues in education
• if their work has results that already have (or look likely to have) a wide global impact
• how far ahead are they looking for challenges and opportunities in education through their work
• how they are creating an improved education system for a brighter future
• if they can meet new challenges and spread inclusive and fair education for all
• if they have the potential to shape the future of education.

b. How is this person or team's work innovative?*

We're looking for evidence that their work:

• is ground-breaking
• disrupts the usual way of doing things
• shows new, creative approaches to education
• could help us develop skills, knowledge, and self-awareness that shape society for the better.

c. How is this person or team's work transformative?*

We want to understand:

• how their work can change systems or ways of working—in part or as a whole
• if they are influencing the wider education community and inspire collaboration
• what impact their work has already had or is having on education systems.

(max 1000 words)

d. How is this person or team's work sustainable?*

We want to understand:

- how their work has grown so far—and its potential to work across borders and regions
- the governance model of their work—is it transparent and accountable?
- if there's a business model for their work, and whether it's been financially stable so far
- if there are legal or regulatory threats to their work.

3. For nominees: record a two-minute video telling us what you'd spend funding on*

We award our laureates HK$15m (around US$1.9m) in project funding over three years. This is your chance to tell us in two minutes—and in your own words—what you'd spend it on.

While we don't need a detailed budget breakdown, it's helpful to understand how you plan to bring your vision into reality. That should include:

- project stages
- project sites
- key milestones
- the final outcome(s) and what impact they hope to achieve.
- If you're a team, we'd like to see all nominees on screen and speaking to the camera so we can understand each of your unique roles in this project.

Most people record their video in English, but you don't have to; just remember to include English subtitles or insert a transcript in English below.

Your nominator can't make this video on your behalf (unless you're self-nominating). If you have difficulty making a verbal presentation, please contact the Secretariat at nomination@yidanprize.org.

- Why do you ask for a two-minute video? What makes a good video submission?
- What should the video look like for teams?
- Tell me more about project funding.

The video must be in one of these file formats: .MP4, .MOV, .AVI or .M4V. We recommend you make it 1920 x 1080 in size, and at 1080p quality. We accept file sizes up to 200MB. If you're having problems uploading the video, you can provide a link instead. Please make sure it is accessible and not password protected.

1. We want to know who supports this nomination and what they have to say about this person or team's work

If you're a nominator, you'll need at least two. If you're nominating yourself or your team, you'll need at least three. If you have more, you can include them—but no more than five in total.

Who can be a supporter?

In this section, we're looking for recommendations from external supporters. You can include at most one supporter from this person or team's organization.

If you have more than one supporter from within the organization, please upload them in the next section (part 4 question 2). If you have more than five supporters, also include them in the next section, but we won't count any of them as your official supporters.

What should a recommendation letter include? Is there a word limit?

For team nominations, can the recommendation letter mention only one of the nominees?

Most people upload a scanned copy, including the supporter's letterhead and signature, but you can also copy it into the text box below.

We also ask for a scanned copy of each supporter's business card, but this is optional.

Sometimes we'll get in touch with a supporter to ask them about their recommendation, so please double check their contact details.

○ Tick the box if:

• you're a nominator and you have the nominated person or team's consent to share their personal details with us. OR
• you've nominated yourself and you (and your team) are happy to share your personal details.

You're also confirming that:

• all the information you've included is accurate, correct, and complete
• you're nominating this person or team for work they've done or led
• you're not nominating an immediate family member
• none of the nominee(s)' supporters are their immediate family members
• the nominated person or team understand that the Yidan Prize Foundation may perform background checks to validate information provided in this nomination.

We can only accept your nomination if it meets all these conditions.

When a nomination isn't successful, we keep the form for the next year.

There are only two prizes to offer, but we get many excellent nominations every year. So if you're not successful this time, we encourage you to come back, edit your nomination, and try again.

If you'd rather we didn't keep your form, let us know at nomination@yidanprize.org.
